We are offering a research position as
Staff PostDoc or Clinician Scientist (f/m/d)

With more than 25 departments and 13 institutes (1,150 beds), the University Medical Center Ulm is a leading health care provider in southwest Germany. We provide inpatient treatment to about 44,000 patients each year. Our outpatient cases amount to approximately 60,000. We attach great importance to qualified employees who ensure extremely high quality in the treatment of our patients by the use of the latest scientific knowledge and who enjoy their work.

- Genetics and Epigenetics of B-Cell Lymphomas -
- at the Institute of Human Genetics (Director Prof. Dr. Reiner Siebert) of Ulm University Medical Center

Your assignment:
- Research in ongoing and novel local, national and international projects in the field of lymphoma genetics and epigenetics
- Mining of huge multi-OMICs datasets of lymphomas including whole genome and transcriptome sequencing, DNA methylation and epigenome data
- Performing functional (epi)genomics screens and validations in lymphomas
- Translating findings into clinical trials
- Publication of the results

We offer:
- A full-time position for two years with option for tenure
- Payment in accordance to TV-L
- Operational health promotion and retirement provisions
- Assistance for compatibility in job and family
- A stimulating, diverse and international research environment
- Opportunity for continuing education, participation on congresses
- Start of position: From now on any time

Required qualifications:
- PhD in any field of Life Sciences and/or MD
- Broad knowledge in the field(s) of hematology, immunology, immune genetics and/or somatic genetics
- Experiences in fields of functional genomics and/or next generation sequencing and/or bioinformatics
- Motivation, independency, teamwork
- Excellent communication skills in German and/or English

→ Contract: Befristet
→ Level of employment: Vollzeit
→ Bewerbung bis: 12.07.2019

Are you interested?
To apply, please send your significant application to:

Professor Dr. Reiner Siebert
Universitätsklinikum Ulm
Institut für Humangenetik
Albert-Einstein-Allee 11
89081 Ulm
E-Mail: sekretariat.humangenetik@uni-ulm.de

When sending your application by mail, please include hardcopies only (no original documents). Papers won’t be sent back.